Doshier Occupational Therapist Nicole Dunning Earns Lymphedema Certification

SOUTHPORT – Doshier Memorial Hospital Occupational Therapist Nicole Dunning recently earned her Lymphedema Certification through the Academy of Lymphatic Studies. As a Certified Lymphedema Therapist, Ms. Dunning will treat and educate patients in Doshier’s Lymphedema Clinic to help them manage their condition more effectively.

Ms. Dunning, who has been a member of the Doshier Therapy Team for nearly two years, possesses a Master’s of Science in Occupational Therapy from Radford University in Radford, Virginia along with a graduate certification in Gerontology. Ms. Dunning looks forward to helping her Lymphedema patients regain quality of life through treatment, education, and self-management.

“We congratulate Ms. Dunning in taking this very important step in continuing her healthcare education, and we appreciate the ways that this will contribute to the successful outcomes of our patients,” said Lynda Stanley, President and CEO of Doshier Memorial Hospital. “Our staff fully understands that great patient care is commensurate with their willingness to enhance their skills sets. Ms. Dunning’s latest achievement exemplifies this mindset within our culture.”
