Jim White, Scott Starks join Doshier board

SOUTHPORT—Rev. Jim White and Scott Starks, MD have begun six-year terms on the Doshier Memorial Hospital Board of Trustees. They were elected by voters of Smithville Township last month after running unopposed.

White, a retired Presbyterian minister from Oak Island, was elected after filling the unexpired term of Don Hughes on an appointed basis for the past five months. White had been chair of the Doshier Memorial Hospital Foundation Board. Dr. Starks, a retired orthopedic surgeon who lives on Bald Head Island, succeeds Debbie Barnes who rotated off the board after completing a six-year term.
