

Contact: James M. Goss
Phone: (910) 457-3900

For release: October 14, 2015

Dosher announces fall community lecture series

SOUTHPORT—Foot ulcers and diabetes are the focus of several free lectures Dosher Memorial Hospital is hosting for the community this fall.

In recognition of Diabetes Care Week, October 26-30, Dosher is holding two programs:

1. Wound care and diabetes by Brad Hilaman, MD, medical director, Dosher Wound Care program, and John Stone, CHRN, director, Dosher Wound Care Center, on Wednesday, October 28, 6:30-7:30 p.m. Pre-registration is required by calling (910) 454-1192.
2. Pre-diabetes education by Vicki Allen, Dosher diabetes educator and nutritionist, on Thursday, October 29, 5-7 p.m. A written referral by a licensed healthcare provider is required. Pre-registration also is required by calling (910) 454-4731.

To support National Diabetes Awareness Month in November, Dosher is holding two additional programs:

1. Wound care and diabetes by Brad Hilaman, MD, medical director, Dosher Wound Care program, and John Stone, CHRN, director, Dosher Wound Care Center, on Thursday, November 12, 6:30-7:30 p.m. Pre-registration is required by calling (910) 454-1192.
2. Diabetes education: Healthy holiday eating by Vicki Allen, Dosher diabetes educator and nutritionist, and Kathy Seagraves, Dosher chef, on Monday, November 16, 6:30-8 p.m. Pre-registration is required by calling (910) 454-4731.

For more information, visit www.dosher.org.

#